

Insurance with Rest

How to keep covered

Protecting your most valuable asset. You.

Life doesn't always go to plan. Insurance is a smart way to protect yourself, and those who depend on you financially.

We understand everyone's needs are different and always changing, so staying on top of your insurance and premiums is really important.

What does cover cost?

For Rest Super members, your insurance premiums depend on the type of cover you have (death, total and permanent disability or income protection), how much you are covered for, and if you have general 'default' or personalised 'voluntary' cover.

- Default cover is priced based on your age and the amount of cover you have
- Voluntary cover is priced based on your age, amount of cover, gender and occupation.

Rest Corporate members should read the Insurance Guide along with Your Employer Plan Summary as the type of cover, amount covered for, and cost is different to Rest Super.

You can check your cover at any time by logging into MemberAccess at rest.com.au/memberaccess and clicking on the insurance tab.

If you'd like more information about insurance premiums and how your cover may change over time, read the Rest Super Insurance Guide available at rest.com.au/pds

What a typical Rest Super member pays and is covered for

Georgia and Edward are both 28 years old and have death, total and permanent disability (TPD) and income protection insurance. Each member currently pays $3.62 per week<sup>1</sup> for

Death Total cover of $185,400

TPD Total cover of $28,600

IP Covered for up to $2,125 per month

Andrew and Catherine are both 40 years old and have death, TPD and income protection insurance. Each member currently pays $14.57 per week<sup>2</sup> for

Death Total cover of $396,500

TPD Total cover of $28,600

IP Covered for up to $2,125 per month

<sup>1</sup> Based on a Rest Super member who is 28 years old and has default cover, with an income protection waiting period of 60 days and a benefit period of 5 years.

How is it paid for?

Insurance premiums are paid from the money in your super account. The cost is deducted on the last Friday of each month. This can be a cost-effective way to protect you and your family.

Can cover and cost change?

If you have Rest Super's default cover package, you'll find your insurance may change each year. The amount of cover you receive, and its cost is designed to increase or decrease as you grow older, in line with how we estimate an average member's insurance needs will change.

As your personal needs change, you can increase or decrease your cover and its cost, according to what you and your dependants need.

Rest Corporate members' cover and cost differs to Rest Super. See the Rest Corporate Insurance Guide on how your cover and cost may change.

How do I apply for more insurance cover?

You can apply for cover in the insurance tab on rest.com.au/memberaccess by answering some health questions.

Is there a cooling-off period?

With automatic insurance, or insurance you've applied for, you will have a 14-day cooling off period to cancel your cover and not pay any insurance premiums. Any cancellation requests received after the cooling off period will be effective from the date Rest received your request.

What if I take leave or change jobs?

We appreciate things change. Many members change jobs, go on a career break, parental leave or just work casually. We've made our insurance flexible, to help keep you covered as life changes. Read the Insurance Guide at rest.com.au/pds for information on: working anywhere with worldwide cover; insurance while on leave without pay (including parental leave); or how your protection continues but may reduce, when you're in between jobs.

What if I stop working?

As long as you have enough super to pay your premiums, you'll generally remain covered, even if you are not working - though the amount you are eligible for in relation to an income protection claim will reduce the longer you are not working. Your cover may end sooner for one of the following reasons:

- the date Rest receives a request from you to cancel all or part of your cover
- when you turn 70<sup>3</sup>
- a TPD payment is made to you (if your Death cover is higher than your TPD cover, you'll stay covered for the balance of your Death cover until cover ends for any other reason)

- a Terminal Illness payment is made to you (if your TPD cover is higher than the Terminal Illness benefit paid to you, you'll stay covered for the balance of your TPD cover until cover ends for any other reason)
- the day you die.

If you've recently lost your job, it's important to check you've still got the right income protection to suit your long-term needs. We believe you should only pay for what you need. We understand that life gets busy so we will contact you if your balance becomes too low before the cover stops.

Are there other times my insurance could end?

Regardless of your super balance, protection will end sooner:

- due to inactivity - if your account is 'inactive' i.e. you haven't received a contribution or transferred money from another super fund (a rollover) for 13 continuous months. Unless you've chosen to have insurance, or told us you want to keep your cover even if no contributions are paid in, we'll contact you after 6 months, then 9 months and finally after 12 months to let you know your cover may stop. At the 13 month mark, we will cease your cover
- We will give you the option to reinstate your cover from the date it stopped by making an election to reinstate cover within 60 days of your cover ending, or by making a contribution to your super account within 28 days of cover ending.

If you don't have enough super, your insurance ends:

- due to low balance - if on the last Friday of the month your account doesn't have enough super to fully pay that month's premiums
- You will have 28 days from the date cover stopped to top up your account with enough money to pay premiums to restart cover.

If you don't act in time, you can apply for insurance again, but you'll need to provide health information.

<sup>3</sup> For Rest Corporate members cover may stop earlier depending on your employer selected cover, this includes income protection stopping at age 65. For more details see Your Employer Plan Summary and the Rest Corporate Insurance Guide.

Don't forget

If you or your employer stop contributing, your insurance premiums still continue to be withdrawn from your super. It's important to make sure you have enough money in super to cover your premiums. If you don't your cover could end.

Tip 1

Got more than one super account? You may be paying premiums for multiple policies. This will reduce your retirement savings and you may not be able to claim on duplicate insurance. Consider how much cover you need and choose the best for your situation.

Tip 2

Got insurance in another super account? You can apply to transfer existing death, TPD or income protection insurance you have outside Rest, to your Rest Super or Rest Corporate account. This will depend on limits, conditions and our insurer approving it. To transfer your insurance, go to the insurance tab at rest.com.au/memberaccess, or visit rest.com.au/forms to download an 'Insurance transfer' form.

Are you in between jobs?

It's important to check you've still got the right income protection to suit your long-term needs. Income protection protects you from losing work due to illness or injury. So, while it can't help if you lost your job or have been stood down now – it could still protect you in future by paying up to 77% of your income<sup>5</sup> if you're too ill or injured to work for an extended period.
